Document

This class is a container for document information. This contains two parts:

- `page_content`: The content of the actual page itself.
- `metadata`: The metadata associated with the document. This can be things like the file path, the url, etc.

Loader

This base class is a way to load documents. It exposes a `load` method that returns `Document` objects.

Unstructured

Unstructured is a python package specifically focused on transformations from raw documents to text.
